

The overall technical picture as seen by the Developers Meeting at Spinea, May 2010

- * Countries decide when they join Servas Online
- * Servas Online data not visible to BeWelcome members and vice versa, unless the individual requests it
- * ServasOnline individual controls what pieces of information about them is visible online
- * Contact with others on ServasOnline is done through the system, not sharing real email addresses
- * Data may be added electronically from an individual country database, as decided by the country
- * The 'person data' master copy will be stored in ServasOnline
- * The 'money data related to persons' will be stored in ServasOnline
- * Printed host lists will be produced by Dolphin, using the data from ServasOnline
- * The transition state is expected to last for years
