

Elected Position	SI President
Name	Radha Radhakrishna
Country	USA
Why are you volunteering for this position?	I have been the SI President for 3 years. During this term (2022-2025), which followed the COVID period, I have worked with the executive committee to revive member engagement across the globe. I am pleased to report that as a result we had more regional and local meetings, more international forums and various other activities to engage members. Our committees and teams have been more active, though much more needs to be done. Currently, we are working on several projects to improve the overall experience of members specially in the area of hosting, traveling, and youth initiatives. I am looking to continue to work with the teams on these issues.
Skills and experience	This will be last term. I would like to thank everybody for their support and love over the years.

1st Individual Supporter	Richard Weaver
Information in support of the candidate	I have experienced Radha's contributions first when he was a member of the US Servas Board and since he has been the President of Servas International. He is both insightful and diplomatic. It would benefit the larger Servas organization for him to continue the work that he has been leading.
2nd Individual Supporter	United States, Eileen M. Rowley
Information in support of the candidate	I support the nomination of Radha Radhakrishna for President of Servas International because he has done a magnificent job over these past 2.5 years. I believe there is a steep learning curve to this position. Radha has learned the job, developed the significant relationships within the Servas international community to make Servas International be the best it can be, and has developed

6th Individual Supporter	Jeanne Devine, USA, long time member, past SI Main Rep to UN (2008-2011); jdevinesoll@hotmail.com
Information in support of the candidate	I have known Radha for many years since meeting him in NYC. He is a strong advocate and spokesman of SI, always advocating for peace and friendship, always available to lend his enormous skills.
7th Individual Supporter	Gopal Rajan, USA, Servas Interviewer and host since 1989, gopalinusa@gmail.com
Information in support of the candidate	I have known Radha for over 55 years. I supported his candidature for the Servas Presidency back in 2022 and seeing the substantial growth in the organizational membership over the last 3 years and the dynamism with which the organization has increasingly operated, I fully extend my support to his candidacy for the Presidency for the next three years.
8th Individual Supporter	Radha as a college professor brings a good understanding of how we need to attract more college and school students to the philosophy of Servas given the multiple crises, misunderstandings the world is facing today. Given the increasingly official lack of support for the UN and its associated organizations, it is imperative that NGOs like Servas attract people who appreciate its similar focus and aims and Radha has actively promoted these actions through focusing on the Servas Peace forum and by traveling to many member countries Servas forums.
Information in support of the candidate	Leena Desai, US, Treasurer and Board member, cny1153@yahoo.com
Information in support of the candidate	Radha has done a fantastic job as a president for last 3 years,

Information in support of the candidate

I am favor of Radha standing for reelection to the post of President of Servas International. I first met Radha in 2020 when I was elected to the US Servas Board. During the year of Covid we realized that we needed to operate differently if we were to survive. Radha had a big part in that in that he was our Treasurer. I worked on the budget team with him and we were able to eliminate staffing, which in turn, reduced our membership fee a great deal. He figured out what the fee would need to be and how many members we would need to be sustainable. Yay! We joined the rest of the Servas groups in the world and now have a top-notch all-volunteer-run structure. I love how Radha can explain so that people can understand - this must be a strength he brings from being an instructor in higher education. He also is very engaged in all aspects of Servas and shows up to participate in events and meetings. He really has a love for Servas and desire for it to be as strong as possible. I am pleased with the direction Servas is going, the strong support for the international teams that have impact on the ground with our youth and families, and the continual strides that are being made to enhance our organization, hopefully resulting in a more peaceful world.

Being an active Servas member, most likely you get the chance to learn quite well about the nature and personality of those whom you work with, seeing from close their way of acting and managing.

And what I have seen in Radha, is a lot of patient, treating everyone equally, ready to help and guide, being open to always listen, direct and honest, and all this without any ego. And in addition, very open and willing to adopt, accept and implement suggestions and ideas.

However, supporting such an important role as an Int. Org leader means to also look for leadership and management skills, and indeed those can be found in Radha as well.

Considering the above, and looking how Servas has been developed, Servas can for sure benefit a lot from having Radha as our president for the next three years as well.
