Motivation. Why are you volunteering for this position? What can you offer Servas and what do you hope to achieve?	I have been a Servas member since birth as my parents and grandparents were also servas members. Whenever it came to family discussions about what we were doing for the world I would hear my grandparents and parents talk about their part in Servas. It's been a generational thing in my family. I've grown up to wanting to be able to contribute in this conversation of theirs with how I've helped. However, I haven't had a chance up until now. I have the skills needed for this job. I run my own blog which specializes in both non-fiction and fiction pieces and am well versed in writing articles, blogs and newsletters. I also have experience being both a team leader and a team player as I've lead clubs as well as participated. I do online school and I have a lot of hours that I can dedicate to this position and Servas. I also already volunteer at a local school here in KSA and I've been able to communicate and coordinate with teachers and students. I've also volunteered with Mehmet Ates for Servas Peace school. Servas is what got me into volunteering. I couldn't fully volunteer with Servas as I was maybe 12 or 13 at the time so I would look for volunteering opportunities at schools or online. Moreover, what I respect most about Servas as an organisation is how laid back the groups feel. The Facebook groups are so involved, and they make you feel involved as well. Everyone shares a glimpse of their life, and the responses are heart-warming. It feels like a big family with one goal. The meetings are also motivational. I remember there was one meeting where this kind older gentlemen came and gave us youngsters advice. My ideas involve getting students involved. I know students like myself who look for peace organizations to be a part of or to volunteer for but there isn't enough coverage for Servas. I used to think Servas was for grownups because the Youth involvement wasn't highlighted. Blogs, videos and tiktoks can be made to shed more light. We can also get schools involved so that they can give students a chance to get involved with Servas. I would personally like to help with that because students might be more interested if they see and communicate with people their age.
