SI INCOME STABLE 2016-2017

Servas International received income from stamp fees to the value of 57 699 Swiss francs (CHF) during the 12-months financial year between April 1 2016–March 31 2017. The income for these twelve months was at approximately the same level as the previous financial year between April 1 2015–March 31 2016. SI's income from stamp fees was 57 760 Swiss francs for this period.

Servas International had to March 31, 2017 spent a total of 64 095 Swiss francs on development costs on the ServasOnline Project – formally called SOL – which we now hope to complete by March 31 2018.

The cash resources which have been built up over many years of careful stewardship stood at 412 367 Swiss francs at March 31, 2017. This has enabled the organisation to meet the substantial capital expenditure for ServasOnline.

This is shown in the 2016–17 Financial Statements posted on servas.org. The Financial Statements have been posted together with other documents for the November 2017 Servas International distant vote for approval of the 2016–17 Audited Accounts.

You can download the Financial Statements and other documents mentioned above on these weblinks:

<https://servas.org/en/distant-vote>

https://servas.org/sites/default/files/uploads/distant_vote/2017/SI_FY_2016-17-Fin_Stt-1.pdf

It can be noted that these Financial Statements are the first for many years to be completed and audited within six months of balance date. This achievement was made possible thanks to a joint effort by the Servas bookkeeper, the current and past SI treasurers and by the SI Internal Audit Committee (SI IAC).

TIME FOR SI GA 2018 ELECTION NOMINATIONS

Many elections are to be held in October 2018 at the Servas International General Assembly (SI GA) in the Republic of Korea. Over the coming months the Nominations Committee will be accepting nominations for positions on the next SI Executive Committee (the global Servas board) and for elected SI officers in the Conflict Resolution Committee, Audit Committee, Development Committee, etc.

Nominations will remain open until immediately before the elections, which take place during the SI GA. It is important, however, that National Groups consider possible nominations well before the SI GA, so active Servas members can come forward, even though they may not be able to attend the GA in person.

If you would like to put yourself forward as a candidate for one of the positions or would like nominate someone else, please contact the SI Nomination Committee by email to nominations@servas.org.

Susanne Thestrup (Denmark), Dianne Peterson (Singapore) and Norma Nicholson (Australia) were elected to SI Nominations Committee by acclamation at the SI GA 2015 in New Zealand.

SI TREASURER RESIGNS

The Servas International treasurer William D'Souza will resign due to increased workload in his professional life. William's decision is final, but he has promised Servas International's global board, SI Exco, that he will stay in his position until the board find someone to replace him. Exco will immediately start the recruitment process to find William's successor.

Please read the recruitment ad below.

The search for an assistant treasurer continues.

SERVASONLINE - A GLOBAL SOURCE FOR DEVELOPMENT

After years of hard work and planning ServasOnline went live last year, achieving many aims in developing and running Servas, keeping it a dynamic and vital organization.

These days Servas is present in many member groups and countries worldwide. Before ServasOnline, each individual group had their own host list and information sources, if at all. Unfortunately, not all countries have a well-established Servas member group and quite a few do not have even a local active person who can coordinate Servas and be the Point of Contact (POC) person there. And some others do not have any Servas representation at all in the country.

To be able to support and help these countries, a POC is needed to provide answers, guide, interview and accept new members and provide Letters of Introduction. The POC can be a volunteer from around the world, not necessarily living in the same country, perhaps in a neighbouring country.

And now, thanks to ServasOnline, with information in one single, global source, this volunteer can – mostly by herself or himself – access better tools and provide better and faster support. The ServasOnline system can help a volunteer to "adopt" a country and contribute to its development.

According to Bernard Andrieu, the Project Manager for ServasOnline, the new system and the POC method has been useful in efforts to establish Servas in Albania, Cambodia, Iceland, Egypt, Myanmar, Armenia, Estonia and Moldova.

A single, global source of information brings us all closer to each other, allowing us to help to the places most needing support.

And not only for these countries. If an National Secretary or Main Contact can't find someone in their own country to replace or back them up for a certain time, they can authorize a POC volunteer to act for them.

So why wait to volunteer? Any Servas members can help by becoming the POC for countries needing support. ServasOnline can forward all letters and registration requests to you and hopefully someone you interview and approve today will become a Main Contact in their country later on.

Thanks to ServasOnline, no matter where you live and no matter what your role in Servas is, you can always help Servas to grow and support more countries in becoming active.

ServasOnline will guide and help to make this activity fast and efficient.

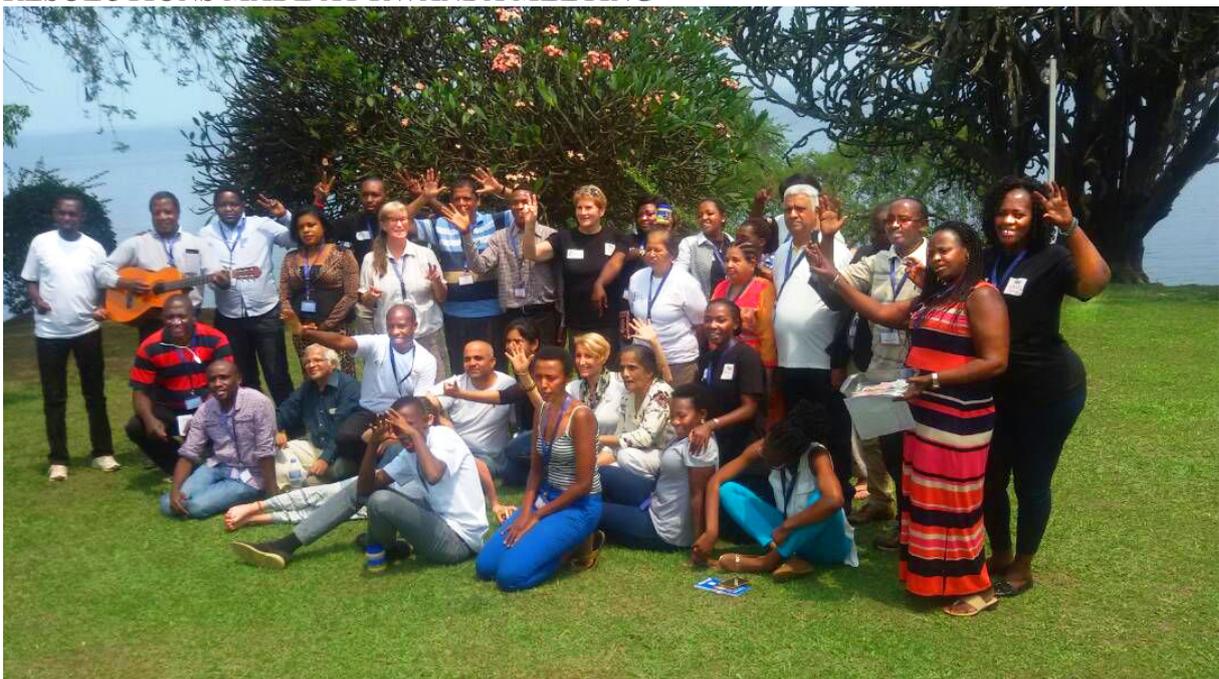

Servas and ServasOnline are waiting for you!

Any questions? Send an email to president@servas.org with the words "Servas Point of Contact (POC)" in the subject line.

RESOLUTIONS MADE AT RWANDA MEETING

The African Servas meeting covered, among other topics, progress of transition to ServasOnline and resource-mobilization strategies for the development of Servas in Africa.

From 26 to 31 August 2017, Servas Rwanda, with the support of Servas International, hosted the Servas Africa Regional Conference at two locations - in Kigali, the Rwandan capital, and Kigufi in Rubavu district, western province of Rwanda. The theme of the conference was: Sustaining Servas in Africa: Strengthening National Networks and Building for the Future.

The aim of the conference was on how to sustain Servas in Africa. The following resolutions were made:

- Servas country networks in Africa committed to improving communication among members by setting up a WhatsApp group for the National and Deputy Secretaries of Servas in African countries. A WhatsApp group for younger members will also be created and managed by young people from Kenya and Rwanda.
- Servas country networks in Africa should let Africans know more about Servas. This will involve increasing peace activities, volunteer work, promoting social cohesion by engaging more with hosts within our countries and other member countries.
- While aiming to let people know about Servas, we should keep it small so as not to lose the meaning behind Servas. Recruitment of people who are willing to make Servas grow.
- People should have a sense of belonging to Servas and be willing to participate in all activities and have a passion for the Servas cause.
- Promote work on exchange programmes, e.g SYLE, between countries. This will aim to change perspectives that people may have of African countries.
- Everyone should plan ahead for the October 2018 South Korea SICOGA in order to avoid inconveniences, e.g. visas.
- Each Servas country network will appoint a ServasOnline officer to support members in using ServasOnline, as it was noted that very few members in Africa use ServasOnline.
- The main ideas for a Servas in Africa development strategy will be presented in 2018 SICOGA in South Korea.

The next Servas Africa regional conference will be held in Kenya in April 2019.

The regional conference meeting in Rwanda in August gathered 39 members of Servas representing 11 countries (four from Cameroon, one from Tanzania, three from Uganda, eight from India, two from Australia, one from Germany, three from Malawi, three from Kenya, three from Democratic Republic of Congo and 11 from Rwanda).

FIRST YOUTH MEETING IN ITALY

International Servas Youth Summer Camp in Italy, August 2017.

On 20 August around 40 youngsters from Italy, Spain, Chile, Czech Republic, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Peru and Portugal began their experience of getting to know the culture of Italy and discussing current issues such as human rights and migration.

Here is an edited and shortened version of an article written by Lisa Hollstein from Servas Germany:

The aim of the meeting was to discuss Servas Youth on an international level, while having fun and making friends from all over the world. Servas Italy and Servas Spain organized a week full of activities, including:

- doing crafts
- discovering the local surroundings
- enjoying Italian food

Among the topics the group discussed were human rights, migration and the Mafia - in a playful way. You might expect that to be tiring, but we assure you none of the presentations was boring. Find Lisa Hollstein's full report on the Servas International open Facebook page.

UN EVENT: MIGRATION A CHALLENGE FOR PEACE?

MODERATOR:

Daniela DÖNGES

*Servas International UN
representative in Geneva,
Middle East expert*

OPENING REMARKS:

Danielle SERRES

*Servas International Peace
Secretary*

«Migration: A Challenge for peace?» To what extent does migration threaten peace, and what solutions exist to respond to the crisis?

Servas International Representatives at the UN organized a side-event in Geneva on the 20th of September 2017. Servas aims to promote peace by building a network of goodwill and understanding that provides opportunities for personal contacts among people of diverse cultures, backgrounds and nationalities.

Migration is a form of border crossing, like travelling. However, travelling is seen as a factor of peace promotion, whereas migration is sometimes seen as a challenge for peace.

The event at the UN took place on the eve of International Peace Day on September 21, and was included in Servas International Week.

Whenever peace is threatened, Servas is highly concerned!

Danielle Serres, Servas International Peace Secretary

SERVAS NOW IN ALBANIA

Servas in Albania has been set up by two enthusiastic members, Viola Balla and Gerti Pishtari. They both found out about Servas on Facebook and our website servas.org. Then they contacted Servas through ServasOnline. Although Servas Albania is only a few months old, they've already had several travellers. It's no wonder, it is a very beautiful country.

Servas Turkey organized their yearly Peace School Programme in Ekinçi, Antakya, Turkey, from July 6 to 16. Turkish newspaper Gazeta Duvar reported on an event where local and international Servas volunteers meet in a village to share experiences. Gardens, backyards and streets form the Peace Campus, where the volunteers share their knowledge with local children aged 5 to 14. The topics range from peace, languages, music, dances, nature, recycling, human rights, drama, toymaking, drawing, traditional games, making short movies, photography and astronomy. Local families host the volunteers so they can experience Turkish culture, family life, food and customs. In exchange, volunteers share their own cultures with their hosts.

The Gazeta Duvar newspaper article can be found with an English translation at <http://atesnaar.blogspot.com.tr/>

Servas International (SI) is looking to fill the position of SI Treasurer. Our current SI Treasurer William D'Souza will resign shortly due to increased workload in his professional businesses. The SI Treasurer is a volunteer position and the SI Statutes allow for the appointment of a replacement person until the next SI General Assembly, in case the elected SI Treasurer is unable to complete their term of office.

The SI Treasurer is a member of the SI Executive Committee (SI Exco) volunteer team, which is responsible for managing the affairs of Servas International, having an annual budgeted income of approximately CHF 60,000. The income for the organisation comes from membership fees paid by Servas members in National Servas Groups in the form of an SI stamp placed on their Letter of Introduction before travelling with Servas.

The prospective incumbent will have the support services of the book keeper based in Bangalore and he will be responsible for the following functions:

1. Accounting for multi-currency payments (both operational and capital).
2. Issuing of Traveller Stamps as per National Group requests and accounting for stamp payables after adjusting for returned unused stamps.
3. Budget formulation and ensuring that the approved expenses are covered within the budgeted allocation.

6. Advising SI Exco about the current financial status at their meetings and of any matters of importance that may have a bearing on the pending decisions.
7. Participating in the monthly SI Exco teleconference calls and normally annual face-to-face multi-day meetings, and being an integral part of SI Exco in its decision making process.

The volume of work is expected to average less than 30 hours per month. During and leading up to the period of the triennial General Assembly more hours may be required.

The prospective incumbent will need to have accounting knowledge and to advise the book keeper when required. As an integral part of SI Exco, they will participate in decision making, and contributing the financial perspective to the SI Exco discussions. The accounting records and financial statements are generated by Tally, an English based Accounting Software. The SI Banker is Credit Suisse based at Zurich Switzerland and the SI Treasurer will be one of the authorised signatories to the bank account. He/she should be computer literate and conversant with international payments and online banking.

If you know of a suitable person in your Servas National Group, please pass this bulletin onto them as soon as possible and advise the SI Exco also at exco@servas.org. We would like to talk to them and explain further the position. We can provide a detailed list of duties on request.
